

Welcome to Scalable Informatics Documentation wiki. This wiki is available to all customers of Scalable Informatics systems whom have purchased systems with support or paid for support and service contracts. In order to access the content of this wiki, you will need an active login (username and password).

If you have purchased a system with support, or purchased support separately, and have not yet received your login, please contact us to let us know this. We will require a current active email account at the same domain as the systems being supported, and a telephone number at this location. If you are not currently a customer and wish to discuss our service and support offerings, please do contact us.
